

How do I insure my gun collection?

Similar to scheduling jewelry, you can easily insure your gun collection on your homeowners' or renters' insurance policy. Each policy includes a specified limit of coverage for firearms and other specialty items.

Scheduling your firearms will increase your coverage limit, and add more covered perils. By scheduling coverage you can insure your guns to their current value, without a deductible, and it adds coverage for theft, damage, or even loss. Fortunately, properly scheduling is not limited to just collector guns. Whether you have a single gun, or a large collection, whether used for sport, hunting, or just collecting, all firearms can easily be insured.

If you are a NRA member, you can obtain a "No Cost ArmsCare Firearms Insurance" policy as one of your member benefits. As a member of the National Rifle Association, the ArmsCare Firearms Insurance policy provides up to $2,500 in coverage for your firearms, FREE. Higher limits are available for a reasonable premium charge. For more information, check out <https://www.locktonaffinity.com/nra/armscare.htm>
